Robbins will talk on several topics of interest to rural trustees. The meeting is to be informal and all trustees are urged to be present.

JOHN A LEE

Mr. John A. Lee, prominent oil promoter, succumbed to an attack of pneumonia Tuesday evening at the Cameron sanitarium. He is survived by his wife, who has been sick for some weeks and by his little daughter, Anita. He came to Cameron from San Fransico about four years ago and has made many friends in this section who regret his passing.

Mr. Lee was a distinguished Polish Civil and Mining Engineer, who had been into almost every country on the globe as a geologist and engineer for firms holding oil concessions in foreign countries. He had lived in several states of the American Union and was a splendid and patriotic citizen.

Mr. Lee was a Mason, a member of Rigio Lodge No. 30 of New York City and was also a Royal Arch Mason. His wife is a member of the Cameron chapter, order of the Eastern Star. Mr. Lee was a thoughtful courteous, generous friend to all who needed his aid or sympathy.

Rev. R. S. Marshall, pastor of the Cameron Methodist church conducted the funeral at the Methodist church Thursday afternoon. The Masonic order conducted the burial rites in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Grover C. White who has been connected with a Bryan firm for the past year, has returned to Cameron and accepted a position with the Cameron Chevrolet Company as salesman. Mr. White is well known in Cameron and his many friends will be glad to welcome him back. He is thoroughly acquainted with the automobile business, having spent the greater part of his career in the automobile business.

Edgar McLean and Bert Davis, league visitors were guests in the Sam McDermott home.

FOR PUBLIC WEIGHER OF PRECINCT SEVEN

ED. WESTBROOK OFFERS TO SUCCEED HIMSELF AND FOR SECOND TERM

Ed. Westbrook, public weigher for Beat No. 7, is a candidate for a second term and has authorized his announcement in this issue of The Herald.

Mr. Westbrook was elected on the Democratic ticket in 1924 and has served the people in an efficient manner. He is a Democrat, voted for and supported the Democratic nominees and will appreciate the support of the people at the coming primary election in July.

Beat 7 includes Ben Arnold, Burlington, Yarelton, Marak and Walker's Creek.

The drouth of 1925 prevented Mr. Westbrook from realizing any benefits from the office, no cotton being produced and he asks for a second term not only because he wishes to serve the people well but because he has realized nothing from the office so far because of crop failures.

Mr. Westbrook calls upon his supporters over the precinct and asks them to vote for him for this office.

A. F. MITCHELL ILL

A. F. Mitchell who has been in declining health for several months, is confined to his home this week under the care of physicians. Mr. Mitchell will be kept in bed for several weeks. His many friends trust for him a speedy recovery.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means through the Cameron Herald to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to one and all who so kindly remembered us at a time when friends prove most dear. Especially do we thank Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Green, also those who shared in the beautiful floral contribution. We thank you all.

Mrs. Era W. Cobb and children.

J. P. Hefti and daughters, Minnie and Lena from Maysfield were in Cameron Saturday to do some shopping. Mr. Hefti has hopes of a good crop this year. Last year he failed on his crops on account of the drouth. He has been a reader of the Herald for 33 years and has also been a reader of the Dallas News for 33 years.

Miss Bessie Dunham went to her Tracy home for the week end.

Cameron Brewery Raided Saturday

A small brewery making beer was raided Saturday by sheriff L. L. Blaylock assisted by Constable Chas. Sens and City Marshal Ray Robinson, in the flat adjoining the Southern Pacific railroad section.

E. Rodriquez, a Mexican, is in jail awaiting examining trial. The capping machine, 99 bottles of beer, half gallon of whiskey and about three hundred empty beer bottles were confiscated by the sheriff and raiding party.

The sheriff has conducted a large number of liquor raids during the recent past, and is making war on the liquor traffic.

Stern Duty Is Hard But Officer Takes Own Son To Prison

Stern duty is sometimes hard. Here is an example.

Last week Bud Robinson, night watchman at Buckholts, arrested his son, Tom Robinson for burglary, having caught him in the act of burglarising a store at that place.

Mr. Robinson is well advanced in years. His hair is white but his eyes are steady and although it grieves him that his son has fallen a victim but he is unflinching. He brought his son to jail and will appear in court as a witness for the state against him.

Tom Robinson has served one term in the penitentiary and must now face trial for a crime which may lead again to the walls.

Delco Agent Honored By Gifts From Co.

H. C. Keith, Delco agent here and owner of the Keith Electric Company, has been awarded a $75 Illinois watch and a 2 killowat diamond pin and $25 in money for having led the sales force in this district last year.

He also gets a free trip to Dayton, Ohio, on April 8 and 9. Last year Mr. Keith won a 17 jewel Hamilton watch for his sales record.

S. M. BURNS WILL GET CHICKEN HATCHERY HERE

SECURED FLORIST FOR CITY NOW AFTER CHICKEN HATCHERY

S. M. Burns who secured for Cameron a florist is now bending his efforts to get a chicken hatchery for Cameron.

In communication from the Poultry Tribune at Mount Morris, Illinois, that publication tells Mr. Burns it has turned over his comunication to the Newton Giant Incubator Co., of Harrisburg, Va.

Mr. Burns by taking active interest in these matters has secured results. The commercial club recently had under consideration a hatchery but abandoned the plan for the time. Mr. Burns secured a florist who is this week preparing his place in Cameron, and he will get the hatchery.

OLD FIDDLER'S CONTEST IN CAMERON MARCH 11

MUSIC OF THE SIXTIES TO ENTERTAIN PEOPLE IN "LOST ART" REVIVAL

"I'll tune up my fiddle,
I'll resin my bow,
And play for the ladies
Wherever I go."

It is said that music from a one string fiddle is almost a lost art.

Recently radio fans heard at Hastings, Nebraska, an old time fiddlers contest. One fiddler was 80 years old but is still able to get more music out of a one string fiddle than Sousa can coax from a batallion of brass horns.

The American Legion is to sponsor an old time fiddler's contest on Friday night March 11. In a bulletin mailed to members of the post L. V. Perkins, adjutant, says that the post will also stage an old time square dance on the paved streets.

Prizes are as follows: First $15; Second $10; Third $5. J. L. Clinton has been asked to arrange the program of music.

The following have been asked to act as judges with Judge Kemp who is to receive the names of contestants: J. S. Barmore, D. R. Criswell, Ben McLellan and T. F. Hardy.

The following is the bulletin sent out by the adjutant of the post:

Dear Buddy,

We are planning big things for 1926 but—we must get every ex-service man lined up with the Legion before we can do the big things.

"Have you sent in your 1926 dues? Well, if you haven't please do so at once and save me the trouble of looking you up to get that $3.25. You may have a little argument to make before you turn that $3.25 loose, but we haven't time to argue, pay your dues and come to our next meeting March 9th and we will argue it out.

"Have you heard about the big doings March 11th?

"Well, the Legion is putting on an Old Fiddler's Contest at the Yoe High School auditorium. A substantial cash prize will be given to the first, second and third place winners in this contest. Also talk it up in your part of the country and we will have a big crowd here for that night. An admission of 35 and 25 cents will be charged for this contest and this money will go to our Legion Building Fund.

"Immediately after the Fiddler's contest there will be an old time square dance on the streets down town. The fiddlers will furnish the music and nothing but the old time steps will be allowed. All Jelly Beans, Cake Eaters, Flappers, and the like will be arrested and locked up.

"Say, have you ever thought of going to the American Legion Convention at Paris, France in September, 1927?

"Well, be thinking about it and come to our next meeting, March 9th, and we will tell you about our plan that will make it easy for you to finance this trip.

"Now don't forget the dues if you have'nt paid them, and if you have see that some other man pays his."

Yours for more members,

L. Van Perkins,
Adjutant.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS STAGE BENEFIT PLAY

"DIAMONDS AND HEARTS" IS PRESENTED TO GATHERING IN HALL

The Knights of Columbus presented "Diamonds and Hearts" Monday night as a benefit entertainment for their hall.

About 300 people paid admission to the hall to see the play and to enjoy the music and dance program.

The lodge recently established a dramatic department and in the presentation of this play has made a good impression with the people and those who attended the entertainment will welcome other ocasions of this kind from the lodge.

E. B. Hess of Burlington is leader of the Knights here and has been untiring in his efforts to produce the play and establish the dramatic department.

ENEMY PRESS SAID FERGUSON WAS AGAINST BLAYNEY; STATEMENT PROVES GOVERNOR FOR HIM

(Houston Chronicle)

"The forced retirement of Dr. Lindsey Blayney as president of the College of Industrial Arts on the specious charges made against him by the school directors was a flagrant outrage and a terrible injustice to a good, able man."

This is a statement of former James E. Ferguson in Houston Friday night, just before he left for the state capital.

The former governor was chafing a little under editorials censuring his wife's administration and blaming the Fergusons for forcing Colonel Blayney out of the college at Denton.

"But it's a penalty you have to pay —to be accused of everything— when you assume high responsibility," added the former governor. "My wife and I were friends of Dr. Blayney. We wished to see him retained as head of the College of Industrial Arts. We did all we could consistently do to get the board of regents to look at the matter as we did.

"I do not consider Dr. Blayney had a chance in the year he has been there. He never had the co-operation of the board of regents. It was an uphill lift from the time he became the head of the institution. He has been mighty unfairly dealt with, and I don't mind saying so."

The former governor gave it out that he had written many letters urging the board to stand behind the former Rice man, and to give him a chance to put his ideas into practice and see if they didn't work for the good of the institution.

"Why as late as last week I wrote a letter to my friends on the board of regents," he said. " I knew then there was little chance of inducing the board to change its attitude. But I did suggest that if they must 'get' Blayney they ought also to clean out a lot of Ku Kluxers and zealots who have set out to get Blayney's position from the day he was appointed."

Standing Firm For Blayney

The former governor had a number of newspaper clippings condeming he and Mrs. Ferguson severely as being responsible for the ousting of Blayney. He looked at them and laughed.

"You see up at Denton I have broken with a lot of political friends who are angry because I defended Blayney," added the former governor. "Down here they are lambasting the Fergusons because they ran Blayney out," and then the former governor in strong words paid his respects to what he terms "these political liars."

"They lied on Blayney up at Denton, " he said. "They are now lying on my wife about Dr. Blayney's troubles, just as they have been lying about road contracts and the textbook muddle. Lying seems to be the vogue these days."

Ferguson explained how he had not only written many letters in an attempt to save Blayney, but that he had also personally conferred with his wife's two appointees on the board of regents.

That board is composed of Mrs. E. P. Turner, Mrs. William Capps, Mrs. Lee Joseph, Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, C. U. Connelee and J. W. Regan. Connelee, wealthy Eastland county man, and Degan, Denton banker, are the only two appointees of Mrs. Ferguson on the board.

"When the trouble between Dr. Blayney and the regents became acute many months ago, both sides naturally came to the governor," said Mr. Ferguson. "Personally I did all I could and Mrs. Ferguson did all she could to patch up the differences. We wish to see Dr. Blayney have a chance. I asked Mrs. Ferguson's two appointees to come to Austin, which they did. I appealed to them in every way I could to lay aside grievances they had against Dr. Blayney and co-operate with him and all work for the good of the institution. Doctor Blayney and Mrs. Blayney visited at the executive mansion. Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Blayney poured out their hearts to each other and certainly she and I each did all we could to allay the discord."

Preposterous Charges

Then the former governor told how he had procured a copy of the charges made against Dr. Blayney by the regents.

"I sifted them out thoroughly and there was nothing to them," he added, emphatically. "They were propetous charges on which to ask Dr. Blayney, and wouldn't even justify a censor of him. Why, they even charged he had not properly spent a $650 expense account for traveling. I investigated that and found there was nothing to it. All you could say of the charges was that they were just allegations that he had exercised his proper discretionary authority, which he had a perfect right to do, but that his decisions didn't suit some other folks."

The former governor said he wished to refer those now charging his wife's administration with being responsible for Dr. Blayney's dismissal to Dr. Blayney himself.

"He is the best authority on our attitude towards him," said Mr. Ferguson. "Or I might refer them to Hugh Fitzgerald, who is not my wife's appointee on the board, but who also was a staunch defender of Dr. Blayney."

The former governor declared a majority of the faculty members stood with Dr. Blayney, but there was a very zealous minority determined to supplant him. He said the student body appeared almost a unit for him from letters and petitions he had received. The alumnae, too, in all sections of the state were for the former Rice professor.

Klan And Petty Jealousis

Mr. Ferguson attributes the trouble to Ku Klux feeling and to a multitude of petty jealousis that were aroused. According to the former governor the Houston man seems to have been caught between a cross-fire of the klan and anti-klan sentiment in Denton.

"Having taken a decisive stand against the klan, Dr. Blayney uncurred the enmity of that organization from the first," says Mr. Ferguson. "There were several professors in the institution who thought they ought to have been elected president. They resented a man being brought there and made the head of the institution. They started on him before he was fairly settled. They circulated posterous stories. For example one was this: There was not sufficient room for the piano pupils and they had a number of pianos and no place to put them. Mrs. Blayney suggested she and the doctor take an apartment and turn over the president's residence on the campus as a place for students to practice They did this and immediately they started the story the Blayneys were too high toned to live on the campus. It was a very studied campaign of malicious gossip that pursued Dr Blayney."

The former governor told how Dr. Blayney formed a fast friendship for J. W. Sullivan, a former member of the regents at Denton.

"Mr. Sullivan is a lawyer, a highly educated man, and Dr. Blayney and he formed a friendship and were often together," he explained. "Now Mr. Sullivan was reputed to be prominent in the ranks of the klan. Immediately my friends and Mr. Degan, one of my wife's appointees, began to turn on Dr. Blayney. They said he was spending all his time with my political opponents. I knew it was merely an innocent friendship and talked to both Dr. Blayney and Mr. Sullivan about it. I will say Dr. Blayney didn't play good politics or use much tact. The feeling was pretty keen in Denton and soon Dr. Blayney had incurred the wrath of a lot of my friends. They carried their partisanship to the limit," and then the former governor made a little philosophical observation.

"You know a lot of lies had been told about Dr. Blayney," he said. "And if ever a man tells a lie on you and you catch him up and prove to him he is a liar he is your mortal enemy from then on, although he knows he has been lying about you. When the stories they had been telling about Dr. Blayney all blew up he had a clean record left, but still had his opponents all those who had circulated them."

Plea Made To Appointees

The former governor said in pleading with his wife's two appointees to join hands with Dr. Blayney and cease their opposition he had said:

"You are going to do something now that will heap censor on my wife, and you men know she is not entitled to it. Your fight on Dr. Blayney is not endorsed by a majority of the faculty, by student body, by the alumnae or by the public at large and hasn't the approval of my wife's administration.' And just what I told them has come to pass. Here my wife's administration is being flayed for something she tried to avert and I have cut these editorials out to send to Jim Degan to prove that what I told him has already come to pass."

The former governor added that it was hard to believe that some of his political opponenents wanted to maliciously distort the facts.

IS THE BIBLE THE WORD OF GOD?

By this question it is meant to raise the question as to whether you take the Bible in all of its teachings as the Word of God, or whether or not you take the Bible to "contain the Word of God." There is a vast difference in the two positions. One may say yes, the Bible contains the word of God, and by that statement he means to say that he does not accept all the Bible as the Word of God. Others may choose as they please, but as for me I believe the "Bible is a book of heavenly instructions, having God for its author, salvation for its end and truth WIHOUT ANY MIXTURE OF ERROR FOR ITS MATTER."

If parts of the Bible are authoritative and contain true messages from God and worthy conceptions of God, and parts are of no authority and obscure rather than reveal God, what is to be the test by which we separate the chaff in the Bible from the wheat, the primitive religion from the religion of the true God? Obviously, man's unaided reason. Therefore man is left in the same condition as if he had received no revelation at all, for the final authority is man's discrimination and unaided reason, and not the Word of God. Thus the world would be plunged back into the abyss of human ignorance and despair.

But we are not ready to admit that a part is authorative, and part is not. On the other hand we believe that the Bible is inspired even as it claims for itself to be. "We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto Ye Do Well To Take Heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place—knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old times by the will of man; BUT HOLY MEN OF GOD SPAKE AS THEY WERE MOVED BY THE HOLY GHOST." 2 Peter 1:19-21.

These attacks on the Holy Scriptures are not new, but throughout the history of Christianity sinful men have tried to discredit the supernatural,and thereby discredit the revelation God has given of Himself. It is true these attacks are coming from a new source. Many of them are coming even from the lips of men who occupy pulpits and claim to preach the word of God, while in reality they are denying the truthfulness of the word of the living God. Others are sitting in the professors chair teaching the youth of the land and while the young enquiring student comes with his questiones to the professor whom he believes will lead him safely in the patiway of true knowledge this professor wishes to appear smart and proposes to tell the youth that the story taught him around his mother's knee in Genesis is not true.

They are willing to teach that that is the best the writer of the Book knew at that time, but "we know better now". But there the question comes up again "IS THE BIBLE GOD'S WORD?" If it is then it is all true for God is all wise and knows the future as well as the past. And if we believe He wrote the book as the Book tells us He did write it, then we must admit that it is all authoritative.

If we study His Book we must admit that God knows the future. He has from the beginning revealed himself and the future of mankind, and mankind has only had to wait to see the fulfillment of the words spoken of God. And the very fact that the people are teaching others to disbelieve the Bible is a reason within itself that the Bible is true, for nearly two thousand years ago God showed Paul his servant our day, and had Paul to write these words, " I charge thee therefore, before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and kingdom; PREACH THE WORD; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and docterine. FOR THE TIME WILL COME WHEN THEY WILL NOT ENDURE SOUND DOCTRINE; but after their own lusts shall heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; AND THEY SHALL TURN AWAY THEIR EARS FROM THE TRUTH AND SHALL BE TURNED UNTO FABLES." 2 Tim. 4:1-4. Who but God could write such a truth two thousand years before?

"I am God, I change not." Neither, my friend, does the truth change. The safest way out of this world of sin is not to deny the sins, neither the truthfulnes of the Word of God, but rather believe the Word, accept it by faith, for "By grace are ye saved through Faith" and "If we are faithful to confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins."

B. Y. P. U'S

Our young people are doing good work now. They reorganized some time ago, and have been going forward in a splendid way ever since. In the Senior Union the attendance is around thirty to thirty-five. Their programs are good and are rendered in a very interesting way. They meet each Sunday evening one hour before the preaching service. The time for their meeting is 6:15.

The Junior B. Y. P. U. is doing good work under the leadership of Mrs. Wm. Fanning. She has a large attendance at the same time the Seniors are in session and is teaching and training these youngsters in the work of the Lord.

Public Serviee and Public Opinion

Success in public service depends upon public opinion. Public service—heat, power and light, etc.—is a part of the prosperity of a community. Public service vitally concerns every person and industry in the city, or in the town, where it is located. Public Service is, in fact, personal service. We all know that the quality of personal service which we receive depends largely upon the degree of our personal co-operation and consideration for those who serve us. Maintain an unfriendly attitude toward public service, and you injure every individual in your community, you hamper development, you balk business

Unfriendliness toward public service is in reality unfriendliness toward the public itself. Constant criticism —without understanding knocking—without investigation—all tends to react against your own interests.

Public Service is not defending itself. It needs no defense. It is patent that public service, by its very nature, is more interested in doing the right thing than are its critics.

The successful manager of an electric light and power company knows positively that the public's best interest is paramount. One of the greatest contemporary writers in the United States says: "I do not know a class of business men who are trying harder and who are succeeding more in their efforts to build up towns and cities local interests and industries, than those of the public service companies. They are co-operating with the cities all over the country to create more industry. They are helping in every way possible to build better and bigger business in the towns where they are located."

Public Service and Public Opinion are interdependent.

School Board Answers in Injunction Now Pending

E. A. Wallace representing the school board has filed answer to the injunction obtained in the court of appeals following suit of patrons to reduce transfer charges. The answer has been presented to the Supreme Court where the case now rests.

Copies of this answer, printed below, have been mailed to school patrons and tax payers in Cameron:

Now come the appellees in the above and move the court to disolve the temporary injunction heretofore issued by this court in this cause, and to affirm the interlocutory judgment of the court below refusing the temporary injunction for the following reasons:

A. Because the affirmative allegations of plaintiffs' petition show, as a matter of law, that they are not entitled to any of the relief sought injunctive or otherwise.

B. Because plaintiffs are not entitled to the relief sought in said petition by reason of the following facts which are pleaded affirmatively.

That said city of Cameron was incorporated under the general laws of the State of Texas of 1879, enacted in pursuance of the authority given by Section 10, article 11 of the constitution of said State. After said incorporation the said city, in virtue of the general laws of said State, and particularly of art. 5781 to 3793 inclusive, of the Revised Statutes of 1879, enacted in pursuance of the authority given by sec. 10 of art. 11 of the constitution, assumed control of the public schools within its said municipal corporation has continued to exercise exclusive control and management of its said schools. That the territorial limits of the school district and the city is the same.

That by reason of such facts, the city of Cameron did become a "separate and independent" school district within the term and intent of constitution, and was vested with the exclusive control and management of its said public schools; with authority to provide for the organization thereof, to appropriate its school fund in such manner as best suited its population and condition, to levy taxes upon its inhabitants, within the constitutional limitation, to provide grounds, school buildings, and to better maintain said schools.

That said school district so organized and constituted, became and was an integral part of the said municipal corporation and an independent school district, separate and apart from the common district system of the state. That by reason of such facts the school board of said city was authorized and empowered, at their discretion, to exclude from its schools any person who did not actually reside within the territorial limits of said city or to admit them upon such terms and conditions as they should deem best.

That in virtue of such authority that said school board, in the manner hereinafter stated, did enact rules and regulations excluding from the city limits, unless tuition as hereinafter stated, was paid; and have been, and are now, endeavoring to enforce such rules. That said board was authorized by the constitution and the laws to make said rules, and same were properly and regularly made, and said board are now entitled to enforce the same.

C. Said appelees further show that in virtue of the facts hereinafter pleaded, and of the following facts, that they were entitled to make reasonable regulations with reference to the admission into the schools of said city of persons within the scholastic age living without said city, and to require the payment of reasonable tuition by them.

(1) After the city of Cameron had assumed control of the public schools within its limits, and about the year 1889 it did, in the manner provided by law, issue its bonds for the purpose of erecting and equipping school buildings, and did levy upon its inhabitants a tax to pay said bonds; and with the proceeds thereof did construct public school buildings, including the one for white children, now known as old Grammar School building, and which said building has been maintained and improved since the date of its construction and which, with its ground, is of the reasonable value of $50,000.00.

(2) Afterwards the said city did levy a tax upon its inhabitants for the purpose of maintaining said schools, and which tax it did maintain until about the year 1917, when in the manner provided by law, it did increase the said school maintenance tax to seventy-five cents on the one hundred dollar valuation, and which tax the said city still maintains and collects.

(3) Afterwards in the year 1920, Mrs. Caroline Yoe did erect and convey to three trustees, for the city of Cameron, a High School building and grounds, with complete equipment and furnishings together with certain property for maintenance of said building, all of the reasonable value of $200,000.00.

(4) In 1924 the said city did, as provided by law, issue bonds for the sum of $150,000.00 for the purpose of erecting other school buildings and did levy approximately a thirty cent tax on one hundred dollar valuation of property in said city and from the proceeds of said bonds did improve said old building and erect new buildings for the said schools, furnish and equip the same, and which said new buildings and grounds are of reasonable value of $200,000.00. That said bonds are now outstanding, and the taxes to pay the same are being levied and collected, as well as said maintenance tax as hereinabove stated.

(5) The city of Cameron has a scholastic population according to the last school census, of 1168, of which 130 are white children.

(6) There have been transferred to it for the school year 1925-1926, 93 pupils fro moutside the city of which 130 are whit children.

Z (7) The Cameron Public Schools are organized and conducted as follows:

(a) Yoe High school with an enrollment at this date of 283 conducted in the said Yoe High school building.

(b) The Ada Henderson school, conducted in the new building with an enrollment of 547.

(c) The Old Grammar school, conducted in old building with an enrollment of 79.

(d) The south side school for Mexicans, with an enrollment of 18.

(e) School for negroes, with an enrollment of 297.

(8) That the actual annual salaries for the teachers for the Yoe High School is $18,005.00; and a fair apportionment to that school of the cost of general control, and operation of schools, but not including the cost of maintenance of said buildings and grounds, or any allowances for depreciation thereof or interest on investment is $3000.00, making a total cost for operating said school of $21,000.00; which makes the cost of conducting the said High school in excess of $74.00 per pupil.

(9) That the actual teaching cost of the white school conducted in the Ada Henderson, South side, and Old Grammar school buildings is $18, 590.00 per annum, and the fair apportionment of cost of general control and operation is $5000.00, not including any cost of maintenance and depreciation of buildings or interest on investment, making an aggregate cost for the teaching and operation of said schools of $23,598,00, or a cost in excess of $41.60 per pupil.

(10) The appellees further show that their expected in come for operation of said schools for the school year of 1925-1926 including anticipated tuition, and transfer of state apportionment for transferred children, it is shown by their budget for the school year 1925-1926 which is as follows:

"The finance committee recommends the following budget as basis for expenditure for the scholastic year beginning September 1st, 1921.

1.Apportioned to teacher's salaries.

To include state per capita and transfers approximately $21,000.00 and balance from local maintenance fund $40,000.00

2. Apportioned to general control.

Include Superintendent's and secretary's salaries, and cost of census. From local maintenance $4,500.00

3. Operating Fund: From local maintenance and to cover janitors, fuel, water, light, stationery supplies, tel. and etc. $4,500.00

4. Apportioned to maintenance fund:

From local maintenance and to cover insurance, repairs, building and equipment, replacement of any equipment, books and upkeep of ground $1,500.00

5. Contingent fund:—To cover interest and other incidentals not included in above $1,000.00

Totals $51,500.00

Estimate excess of receipts above expenditures $2,500.00

(11) The appellees show that the board of trustees many years ago passed a rule admitting to its several schools pupils who lived without the city limits upon payment of tuition, and crediting upon the tuition of transferred pupils the amount received from the state by reason of such transfer. That such rule was amended by the said trustees August 1, 1924, sa as to read as follows:

"Transfers from other districts, whose parents reside outside the city limits of Cameron.

In the High School ..... $50.00 per year
Grammar School ..... $32.00 per year.

Pupils not transferred, whose parents reside outside the city limits of Cameron.

In the High School ..... $36.00 per year.
Grammar school ..... $18.00 per year.

All tuition is due and payable in two installments, the first at the opening of the school, September 15, 1924, and the second at the beginning of the second term, January 19, 1925. It was further ordered that no pupil be permitted to enroll in the Cameron Schools until a receipt be presented from Dan Tyson, sec. of the board showing that tuition as designated above has been paid."

That said rule as amended was in effect in the year 1924-1925 when the scholastic census for the present school year was taken, and at the time the transfers of all the pupils named in the plaintiff's petition were made, and appellees believe, and charge, that said rule was well known to the respective plaintiffs at the time they had transferred to the Cameron school their respective children named in said petition.

(12) The appellees further show that on September 14, 1925, the aforesaid rule was supplemented as follows:

"The rule requiring payment of tuition from transfer students is amended so as to permit the payment by pupils duly transferred to this school of the first half of the tuition for said pupils at any time during the first term. But all of the tuition for the entire session due from such pupils must be paid before entering upon second term. The superintendent is directed not to enroll or permit to attend any such pupil for the second term whose tuition has not been fully paid at the beginnig of such term."

That such supplemental rule was made in view of the drouth conditions prevailing in the section of the state wherein Cameron is situated, and that the same was not intended to, and did not abrogate the tuition charge thereto fore made, but only changed the method and time payment.

Appellees show that their tuition charge for above schools is far less than the actual per capita cost to the municipality of Cameron for providing and maintaining the said schools, buildings, grounds and equipment at the present standard for its citizens and that the conditions and charges that they have made for the admission of pupils living without the city are reasonable because of the facts stated, and of these additional facts, viz:

Cameron is situated in the center of Milam county, Texas, which has in excess of 10,000 scholastic population. That from the city radiate a number of hard surfaced roads reaching all points of the county, and practically every school district within a radius of ten miles. That within said area there are sixteen school districts, containing a scholastic population for the present school year in excess of 1800. By reason of modern transportation facilities and scholastics of each of said districts and a large part of them can go to the schools of said city without inconvenience. That if said scholastics may attend the schools of said city free of any tuition except the transfer of their apportionment of the State School fund, those appellees charge and believe that said schools will be overwhelmed by numbers, and it will be impossible to maintain the city schools at their present high standard.

Appellees further show that being under the duty of operating and maintaining the public schools of Cameron "in the manner best suited to its population and condition" that in justice to the citizenship of said city, who have availed themselves of the privilege extended by the constitution and laws and have taxed themselves for the purpose of building said schools and maintaining them at their present high standard, they did pass said rules and regulations as to the admission of pupils desiring to attend said schools, who reside without the said city, requiring them to pay a just portion of the cost of the operation of said schools; but which would protect the said schools from being flooded by the children of those who live without its limits, who had failed and refused to avail themselves of the privilege of taxing themselves to build and maintain schools of an equal standard for their children.

That they were empowered by law to make such reasonable rules, regulations and charges as were necessary in the premises, and the rules hereinbefore quoted were made for said purposes, are reasonable and necessary, and appellees are under the legal duty of enforcing the same.

Wherefore premises considered, appellees pray that the temporary injunction be dissolved and the interlocutory decree of the court below be affirmed. and for such other and further relief as they are entitled to.

Miss Christoff has returned from Caldwell.

Being questioned daily about the proper method of feeding cotton seed hulls and meal to horses and mules, I will recite my own personal experience for the past 18 years, and I give below the formula I am using with perfect results. Of course the amount of hulls, meal and roughage fed will be governed to a certain extent by the size of the animal fed, as a 1100 or 1200 pound mule would consume more than an 800 or 900 pound mule. Taking 1000 pounds as a basis of the mules to be fed, I would advise the following:

14 pounds of good cotton seed hulls

3 pounds of 43 per cent cotton seed meal

2 gallons of good oats

10 pounds roughage

This makes a good strong feed for one mule per day. Feeding the above at night, there will probably be a little left in the trough in the morning, which can be utilized for the noon feed by refreshing with the addition of 1-2 pound meal and 1-2 gallon oats to the mule. I have fed hulls and meal in the above proportion for almost 20 years and have never had anything but good results from the feed—no animals with the heaves and have had only 3 mules to go blind in that number of years, which is a very low per cent in the number of animals worked, and which I attribute to overwork in the summer. My losses from sickness during that time that I have fed hulls and meal has been less than 2 per cent a year. I consider hulls and meal the very best feed for working mules and the cheapest, and would not go back to the old way of feeding under any circumstances.

Suspicions About Wall Street and How They Arise

By FRANCIS H. SISSON, President
Trust Company Division, American Bankers Association

WOULD-BE economists, political orators and the general public make frequent positive assertions about the functions of Wall Street without any realization of what constitutes Wall Street or what purpose it serves. Lack of knowledge, breeds suspicion. Yet it is not difficult to understand the nature and function of Wall Street. Let us set down a few of the facts which account for the existence and nation-wide, as well as international, services of Wall Street.

F. H. Sisson

There are 316 banks in New York with combined capital and surplus of about $1,400,000,000. Their deposits aggregate over $11,500,000,000, and during 1924 their total volume of business reached nearly $250,000,000,000. The New York Stock Exchange in 1925 sold 463,000,000 shares of stock and in 1924 $3,828,000,000 worth of bonds. Wall Street is the national credit and money market. It is just as essential that there be markets for money and for stocks, bonds, mortgages and other securities as for cotton, corn, tobacco, wheat, hogs and other commodities.

If Wall Street Were Destroyed

Wall Street is the natural evolution of the forces of trade and finance. It exists because there is imperative need for it in the nation's business. If some cataclysm should destroy the financial district of New York we would see frantic efforts to re-establish it so that trade and industry could continue. If the production and marketing of agricultural and industrial commodities did not need such a financial institution, Wall Street would not exist.

We depend upon the farmer to help maintain the general level of prosperity. Wall Street as a money market is called upon to finance the growth and marketing of farm crops. Many Wall Street bankers were born and raised on farms. If they were not thoroughly familiar with agricultural requirements, they could not hold their present positions in the financial world.

In the period of deflation, Wall Street suffered proportionately as much as the farmer. The aggregate losses of Wall Street banks mounted to a staggering sum. Wall Street is not an independent institution, but an organic part of the country's business system, necessarily reflecting the ups and downs of business.

Four Billion Dollars

An approximate estimate of the main items in Wall Street's financial operations in handling farm crops shows that New York banks for the purpose of agriculture put out commercial loans to the value of one billion dollars, hold bankers' acceptances for another billion, buy commercial paper such as cattle and sheep loans for a third billion and carry balances of country banks for a fourth billion. Thus Wall Street furnishes a $4,000,000,000 river of credit annually to produce farm products and float them to market.

The outward flow to rural banks enables them to make the required advances on farm crops and for warehousing and handling cotton, tobacco, wheat, raisins, prunes and countless other products. Outside of his own personal efforts on his farm, Wall Street is the biggest single factor in the prosperity of the farmer. After these commodities have been moved to market, the money used in handling them returns to Wall Street for investment. New York is the largest security market in the country and offers a use and market for the idle capital of the rural banks between crops.

Funds from every part of the country flow to New York, attracted by the greater opportunity for their profitable use found in this center. Thus the accumulations of deposits are large, and in turn the openings for the useful employment of these funds in the facilitation of trade, industry and investment are upon a correspondingly ample scale. It is clear that these funds must be employed sanely, constructively and to the real service of the business community. Otherwise they would inevitably soon be withdrawn.

Huge Investments Help Farmers

These huge investment operations in Wall Street are of significance to the farmer. Much of the $10,000,000,000 invested in farm mortgages was advanced by Eastern financial institutions. In no sense is Wall Street's interest in agriculture local or sectional. The main function of New York financial institutions is to send money where it is most needed.

Another service rendered to agriculture by Wall Street is the purchase of Farm Loan bonds, Joint Stock Land Bank bonds and the debentures of the Intermediate Credit Banks. There is a total of $1,451,800,000 of this paper outstanding, of which New York banks took about one billion.

Wall Street loans to country banks are made at low rates, usually below 4½ per cent. The local banker's rates to his customers are adjusted to local conditions, which cannot justly be laid at the door of Wall Street.

General financial service to other industries related to agriculture also helps the farmer substantially. Wall Street loans to the packers, railroads, millers and farm-machinery manufacturers to help them serve agriculture.

Wall Street is as necessary and serviceable in the handling of credit and capital as is the cold-storage plant in caring for seasonal perishable products. The necessity of such a credit center in a country with a $60,000,000,000 annual business is obvious.

What the People Want

Every great international bank in New York maintains close relations with thousands of other banks in the United States and in every foreign country of any importance. The movements of commerce and investment are supported upon this interrelated system of domestic and foreign banks. Thus it comes about that the products of the farm, factory and mine are financed by these banks all the way from the producer to the foreign consumer.

Wall Street in the discharge of its true functions as the nation's reservoir of capital and credit includes the whole business community in its field of operations. Its control lies with the people. Their demands govern it, and their presence or absence from the market determines its trends. Wall Street prospers as farming and industry prosper. Its service is to the people of the whole country and, for them, to the people of other countries. It is the direct reflection of American agriculture, industry and commerce.—From the Country Gentleman.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

MONEY TO LOAN

I am prepared to make loans on improved farm lands with interst at 6 per cent per annum.

J. K. FREEMAN.

The Greatest January in History!

Announcement of tremendous price reductions and vital improvements was followed by the greatest January in Dodge Brothers history.

Retail sales for the four weeks ending January 31st were 14,943, an increase of 67.4 per cent over the same period of 1925.

Mid-summer business in January!

When the drastic reductions went into effect, Dodge Brothers, Inc. said frankly that they were offering the greatest values in their history.

How well the public realizes that these really ARE the greatest values is proved in a definite and emphatic way by the remarkable record for January.

VALENTINE PARTY

"A little fun now and then
Is relished by the wisest men."

So think the Methodist 3 B Sunday School class of which Mrs. R. H. Johnson is teacher. Monday night in the basement of the Methodist church this class of young men with each a young lady were entertained with a delightful Valentine banquet using the decorations so beautifully used for the Epworth League party. The banquet tables were spread with valentine table cloths bordered with hearts, cupids and garlands with centerpieces of spring flowers and ferns. Two fetching songs, sang as only Mrs. C. S. Peyton can sing them, were the attraction of the evening. Mrs. Peyton was accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Clinton.

The banquet menu was a generous salad plate with hot chocolate, followed by ice cream and assorted cakes.

Amid much mery making these eats were thoroughly enjoyed.

Next came the "forture telling valentines", which were distributed in envelopes and each couple coming to the center to reveal their future. Each one was funnier than the other.

In the "watch contest" souvenirs were given to Mr. Lester Wiliams and Miss Corrie Collier as completing their paper first with only one mistake. After the games every one gathered about the piano singing, "Home Sweet Home" and were dismissed with benediction by the teacher.

These young people were profuse in thir expressions of thanks for a happy good time. Mesdames R. A. Tag, R. L. Williams, R. B. Rylander assisted the hostess in serving. To these loyal women the 3 B class expressed thanks for their gracious service.

GUEST HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wilkerson entertained a group of friends Saturday evening complimentary to their guest, Miss Ruth Clark of Trinidad, Colorado. The valentine motif was featured in the home adornment and in game accessories. After a series of games Mrs. J. B. White and Mrs. Chas. Pollard assisted the hostess to serve an attractive plate containing chicken salad on lettuce. Fruit salad, nut bread sandwiches, pimento sandwiches, olives, angle cake and hot tea.

The guest personnel follows: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morgan. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bradbury, Mrs. J. B .White, Miss Mary Lake Henderson, John Henderson and the guest of honor, Miss Ruth Clark.

BAPTIST W. M. S.

Monday afternoon thirty-five members of the Baptist W. M. S. met in the church auditorium for Royal Service lesson on Japan. Cicle three presented the lesson. Mrs. A. N. Green, leader, was assisted by Mesdames John A. Smith, John Ryan, M. G. Cox, Don Slocomb, Geo. A. Thomas and Claude Bradbury. Eight members were present from circle one, twelve from circle two, nine from circle three and six from circle four. On next Monday afternoon a birthday jubilee for the entire membership will be given by the members whose birthdays fall in January, February and March. A delightful program will be presented and refreshments will be served in the church annex on next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

TUESDAY CLUB

Mrs. George Childress Jr. was hostess to the Tuesday Club at 3:30 in the afternoon. Her apartment was most attractive with its gay decorations featuring the George Washington Anniversary. Red Japonica and ferns were used to give floral charm to the suite where five tables were outfitted for the series of auction 42. Each table was centered with a tiny cutex set and in the final awards these trophies fell to Mesdames George Simonds, Charles McDermott, S. A. Cottle, Claude Bradbury and Vernon Roberts.

The hostess served an appetizing salad course featuring tiny American flags and George Washington hatchets as favors. Other than club members, Mesdames James Watson, H. F. Smith, Jr. Oxsheer Smith, John C. Young, Vernon Roberts, J. L. Clinton, Clifton Jenness, C. S. Peyton, Misses Mary Lake Henderson, Cladys Watson and Harriet Henderson enjoyed the hospitality.

VALENTINE PARTY

Miss Lois Randolph was hostess to twenty of her classmates for an enjoyable Valentine party at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Randolph. Sandwiches and hot tea were served near the conclusion of a merry evening of games and fun. All voted Miss Lois to be an ideal valentine hostess.

With Mrs. M. C. Sterling

Friday evening Mrs. M. C. Sterling entertained with two tables of 42 in compliment to her daughter, Mrs. Trent Newton, who was her week-end guest. Score cards and table accessories were delightfully suggestive of the valentine season. Mrs. E. A. Swafford won high score, and was awarded a dainty handkerchief. Mrs. Sterling served a delicious refreshment plate. Favors were valentine baskets filled with mints, and table prizes were cunning valentines.-Rockdale Reporter.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Circle one held no meeting.

Circle two met with Mrs. R. B. Rylander, Mrs. R. A. Tag led the devotional service. During the short business session the resignation of Mrs. D. H. Slaughter was read. Mrs. R. S. Marshall was elected to fill the vacancy. Plans for a pie, cake and sandwich sale for Saturday, February 20, were made. Mr. Sam Hefley's alcove next door to the New Hefley Theatre has been secured for the day and the ladies will fill all orders given. The hostess served valentine ice cream and angel cake.

Circle three met with Mrs. Robt. Terry, with sixteen members present and one visitor. Mrs. Plaster led the devotional. Mrs. S. W. Cheeves, chairman of the circle conducted a short business session. The hostess assisted by her little daughter and her sister, Mrs. Stitt served valentine cream and cake.

Circle four met with Mrs. W. O. Triggs with eight present. Mrs. J. F. Mohler read the scripture lesson. Mrs. R. L. Batte made the lesson talk. Mrs. Lena Baskin read a Gospel leaflet. Mrs. T. J. Denson presided over the business session. The hostess served pineapple fluff and wafers.

LOYAL WOMAN'S COUNCIL

Monday afternoon members of the Loyal Woman's Council assembled at the Christian church for Bible Study. Mrs. Raymond Beard led the lesson from the Book of Proverbs. The next meeting will be at the church Monday afternoon. Mrs. H. E. Garner will be leader.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENTION

The Marlin District Epworth League Conference held Saturday and Sunday according to the program given out in last week's Herald was an inspirational meeting enjoyed by more than a hundred leaguers.

Saturday evening a cafateria lunch was served to the leaguers in the church basement, which was beautifully decorated with festoons of red hearts and other symbols of the Valentine season by the lady sponsors of the Cameron league. Following the service in the auditorium a valentine social was held complimentary to the visitors.

On Sunday in the auditorium decorated with bouquets of yellow jonquils and white narcissus in yellow and white bowls in league colors, and with great clusters of violets the league flower in vases on the chancel, services continued throughout the day. Encouraging reports and enthusiastic plans were discussed and the delegates were instructed and inspired for greater service in their communities. The delegates returned to their homes after the Sunday night sermon by Rev. Mr. Goens of Calvert. The following delegates were present:

Marlin—Ruby Pauling, Bert Davis, Andrew Davis, Ruth Erskin, Edgar McLean, Nobie Erskin, Mildred Turner, Vallye Coleman, Jewell Dennis, Jimmie Coleman, Rachel Pauling, Oma Morgan, Lester Morgan, Shelton Ainsworth, Esther Newman, Dyke Vickers, Mabel Dunagin, Loyce Jennings, Minnie Pauling, Gertrude Pauling, Bessie Howard, Miller Smith, Ina Smith and Fred Pauling.

Chilton Winnie Lankford, Rosa Skinner, Dorothy Truett, Clyde Jackson, Isabelle Hicks, Beatrice Truett, C .M. Lowe and J. M. Skinner.

Alma Anderson and Madge Woodward of Reagan.

Messrs. Proctor, Jones and Wm. Edwards, Misses Mabel Jones, Vivian Lucas, Elizabeth Cone, Sue Sanders, Imogene Sanders. Mrs J. F. Gamble, Mr. and Mrs. E C. Cole of Minerva.

J. L Reitch and Dan S Jackson of A. & M. College.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Cooper, Rosebud.

Alice Covan, Baylor College.

Monday night, February 22 at seven thirty there will be a convocation at the court house to celebrate the completion of the Harvest Campaign for Cameron. The Municipal Band will furnish music and several of our patriotic citizens will speak. The main feature of the meeting, however, will be the auctioning of the numbered coin. Judge Graham Gillis will be auctioneer and will give the coin to the highest bidder. This coin has certain marks different from all other coins of any country. TEXAS and the number 63 are placed on its face to make it so unique. Much interest is being manifest over the country in this particular phase of the campaign, the coin bringing in amounts from $15 to $1000.

The following names are of patriotic citizens who have purchased extra coins since the last list was published.

THE UNDERSIGNED BANKS WILL NOT BE OPEN

On February 22 the undersigned banks of Cameron will pay homage to the memory of George Washington.

It is indeed fitting that this respect be paid so great a leader, so good a man. It is proper that the wheels of commerce be stilled for a day in reverence to the man, who more than any other man, contributed to the now social and economic security of each of us.

With deep feeling we dedicate February 22, 1926, to the memory of George Washington—Father of Our Country. Our customers are respectively requested to arrange their banking affairs accordingly.

A TALK WITH A CAMERON MAN

Mr. Reed Tells Something of Interest To Cameron Folks.

There's nothing more convincing than the statement of someone you know and have confidence in. That's why this talk with Mr. Reed of Nolan Ave. and W. 8th street, should be mighty helpful here in Cameron.

J. J. Reed, grocer, says: "My kidneys were in a disordered condition and ached much more freely than they should have. It was necessary for me to get up several times during the night to pas the secretions. This sort of thing prevented me from resting properly and when morning came, I was tired and all out of sorts. A friend told me of Doan's Pills and I started using them. One box put my kidneys in normal condition and made me feel 100 per cent better.'

THE MAN WHO SAVES YOU MONEY

TEXAS DEMOCRATS 1000 STRONG ORGANIZE TO PRESERVE RIGHTS OF STATE FROM FEDERAL CONTROL

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 13.—Led by former Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, about 1000 democrats met here Friday and effected a permanent states' rights organization to combat what was termed "usurpation of states' rights by the federal government." At the conclusion of an all day session, resolutions were adopted calling on members of congress "to oppose and vote against any and all measures which provide for a joint tax levy."

The fight was centered on the house provision on the inheritance tax in the revenue bill pending in congress. Speakers also decried "extension of federal dictation in matters not of common interest to all the states alike." The resolution urged that the constitution of the United States be upheld in all its provisions, as amended.

The resolution also denounced the creation of boards, bureaus and commissions and other tendencies toward centralizing of federal authority.

Senator Bailey referred to his service in the United States Senate and declared he had fought President Roosevelt's encroachments on states' rights more strongly than did any other senator. "I wish some of the senators had joined me a little earlier," he said. "We might have saved their states rights that have been surrendered to the central government. We may save some of them yet if we stand together and fight for our principles as set out in the constitution.

"The closer you bring the government to the people the stronger it will be. This is an immutable truth on which governments are founded. Give each state the right to govern itself and then if it is a bad government it is the state's fault and the state can ratify any wrong in the government. But if you let one state govern another, then there is no recourse if the government is bad.

Critizes Connally

"Questions like this will make a hundred statesmen, while little questions, such as we have been quarrelling over for the past 15 or 20 years, will make a hundred politicians.

The proposed inheritance tax, Mr. Bailey said, was not for revenue to pay the government's honest expenses but it was to punish men of wealth because they are prosperous." He criticizes Congressman Connally's use of statements by Andrew Carnegie and Theodore Roosevelt to support his attitude on the bill. He read from Thomas Jefferson's writings on taxation to show that Congressman Connally had mistakenly quoted Jefferson as favoring federal taxation similar to that under discussion.

Mrs. W. C. Martin, Mrs. E. P. Turner and Mrs. Frank Gilbert addressed the meeting in the afternoon session. At the morning session senator John W. Davis of Dallas, chairman of the meeting; Jed C. Adams, democratic national committeeman; O. H. Cross, Waco, and John H. Kirby, Houston, addressed the gathering.

In speaking of a permanent organization for the protection of states' rights, Senator Geo. H. Stewart said Texas had been credited over the country with having started the movement and this state should hold the lead she has taken.

"A Chicago paper has designated 13 states which have declared for states' rights 'as another group of states declared their independence,'" he said. "By forming this organization we will be able to keep up the fight for our principles and to show the other states the way to preserve their sovereignty as guaranteed by the constitution."

The resolutions drawn up by a committee composed of former senator Bailey, Jed C. Adams, John W. Davis, former governor O. B. Colquitt, Senator R. A. tewart, W. W. Cameron, Mrs. Frank Gilbert and Mrs. W. A. Collins, were adopted by a rising vote. The resolutions follow:

Representative democrats from various portions of Texas in mass meeting asembled in Dallas this February 12, 1926, hereby make the following declarations:

States Were Soverign

"1. That the original states created the government of these United States and conferred on it such powers as were supposed to affect the rights, liberties and happiness of the people in all states. But that each state retained undeminished and unimpaired its complete power over all questions affecting the rights and happiness of its own people, thus introducing for the first time in the history of the world a perfect system of dual sovereignty. To perpeturate this government as our fathers established it has always been a cherished object of the democratic party and to that end we pledge ourselves to support these state governments in its whole constitutional vigor as the sheet anchor of our peace at home and safety abroad. We also pledge ourselves to support these state governments in all their rights as the most competent administration of our domestic affairs and the surest bulwark against anti-republican tendencies.

"2. That the constitution of the United States as amended is the law of the land until changed, altered or amended by constitutional process, and should be, and is respected, upheld and observed by all loyal and patriotic citizens.

"3. That the rights and the power to levy and collect taxes and make appropriations therefrom, to establish, maintain and support their respective departments, institutions and activities constitute the real evidence of soverignity and the most sacred rights of the several states. And that the federal government should make its tax levies and its appropriations in its own way without interfering with state levies, state appropriations or dictating to the states how they shall tax their citizens.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved:

"That we respectfully petition the congress and the several members thereof to oppose and vote against any and all measures now to be submitted, which provide for a joint tax levy such as is now proposed by the national house of representatives in the 80 per cent provision of the estate tax in the pending revenue measure.

"We denounce this provision of the pending revenue bill as against the principles of state rights as declared herein. We believe that the people of Texas are devoted to the doctrine of state rights and we deplore any further encroachment by the federal government on state soverignty. We consider the 80 per cent joint estate tax provision of the house bill as the most dangerous invasion of state sovereignty ever proposed by congress. We do not object to the imposition of an inheritance tax as an emergency or war measure by either the state or the federal government, or by both whenever necessary, but what we seriously deplore and condem is the provision of this bill, which in effect compels each and every state to do the bidding of the federal government, the inevitable result of which will be that when this principle is established congress will determine for the states necessity for taxing citizens of the states and will determine for them, when, and in what matter and how much they shall be taxed. This seems to us to be wrong and will inevitably lead to the surrender by the states of all the practical powers of state government.

Revenue Not Needed

"The terms and operation of the tax measure under consideration as applied to estate taxes disclose the fact that revenus is not sought for the economical and efficient administration of the government of the United States, the provision permitting a deduction of 80 per cent to the states is ample proof of this statement, therefore we ask the entire repeal of the estate tax provision.

"We deplore further centralization of power in Washington and the tendency of congress to establish a bureaucratic form of government in Washington.

"We call upon the people of the several states in convention assembled and through their respective legislatures to pass resolutions and request their representatives in congress to cease the practices of which we here complain.

"Be it further resolved:

"That the secretary of this convention be and he is hereby instructed to communicate with our senators and representatives in congress and with members of the legislature of the several states of these United States and with the governors of these several states, transmitting to each of them a copy of these resolutions.

"And be it further resolved, that a representative be selected by this meeting assembled to present these resolutions to our representatives and other members of congress and to supplement these resolutions with a word argument against further encroachment of the federal government upon the rights of states."

Upon adoption of the resolutions, the secretary was authorized to send telegrams to Senator F. M. Simmons of North Carolina and Congressman John N. Garner of Texas, thanking the former for his "courageous stand against the socialistic provision of the house inheritance tax according to federal dictation," and asking the latter to join the campaign "because we believe more than any other man in congress, you can stay the invading hand of the federal government."

The message to Senator Simmons follows:

"Five hundred democrats of Texas in session here today gave a rising vote of thanks to you for your courageous stand against the socialistic provision of the house inheritance tax according to federal dictation. So long as we have men of your courage and standing on guard in Washington we have faith to believe that finally the rights of the states will be restored. We believe in the justice of your fight and feel sure that your stand for the entire repeal of the inheritance tax will triumph in the conference."

As Old Time Friends

"Your friends through 40 years of democratic achievement in Texas," the message to congressman Garner said, "are gathered here today and send you greetings. We believe in all earnestness and sincerity that we are starting a movement here today which will launch the citizens of the whole nation into a campaign to reclaim government for the states. We want you in this campaign because we believe that more than any other man in congress you can stay the invading hand of the federal government. We appreciate the position you were forced into as the outstanding leader of your party on the tax measure now before congress. We applaud your unceasing efforts in the behalf of democracy in the past, but we call upon you now to stand silent with yourself for a moment and consider the hurt that will accrue to popular government by the enactment of the house tax bill. We want you to reject the idea that congress shall enter another profit-sharing tax scheme with the states and ask you to accede to the popular demand and join hands with the senate for the entire repeal of the federal estate tax. We are addressing you not in any formal way but as neighbors and friends, for 90 per cent of the men here today lifted swords with you on many a field of political battle."

Jed Adams was authorized to take the resolution to Washington for presentation to congressmen.

Misses Audrey Davis and Bert Davis of Marlin, delegates to the League Institute, were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cobb.

I ask for and will appreciate your—

A Great Year ~ A Great Car ~ and Lower Prices

1925 was the greatest year in Dodge Brothers history.

More than a quarter of a million Dodge Brothers Motor Cars were built and sold, yet demand was far in excess of production—and continues to mount.

To meet this world-wide need for a smart and dependable motor car, Dodge Brothers, Inc. have recently completed a $10,000,000 program of expansion, vastly increasing production and lowering the cost of manufacture.

Remarkable new machine equipment has also been installed—further reducing costs and perfecting quality.

As a result Dodge Brothers, Inc. were enabled on January 7th, to announce a schedule of prices that has revolutionized all previous standards of motor car value.

Prices all the more impressive because they apply to a dependable and trusted product made still better in many vital respects—

Engine operation incredibly smooth and quiet.

Instant engine response and elasticity.

Stylish new bodies finished in rich and distinctive colors.

Exceptional driving vision.

And the most important advance in steel body construction since Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel body.

ACHING LIMBS

And Many Other Common Ills Relieved by Black-Draught.

Mrs. John Skaggs, residing near Lanes Prairie, Mo., on the Ozark Trail, says: "I have taken Black-Draught for a number of years, about fifteen, and it is about the only purgative medicine I ever take. It is the only kind that I've found that doesn't hurt me.

"I take Black-Draught for indigestion, for colds and headaches. I take it for aching in my limbs and shoulders. It helps this trouble. I take it for sour stomach.

"We think Black-Draught is splendid and never are without it in the house.

"I suffered with gas on my stomach that affected my breathing, and Black-Draught helped this trouble.

"For such common complaints, I think Black-Draught is the best medicine a person can use."

For millions of others, Black-Draught is their favorite liver and stomach medicine.

ODDITIES IN THE NEWS

Seymour, Texas. An infuriated mule held on to Alf Ellis' leg with its teeth for an hour, while Ellis stabbed the beast repeatedly in the head with his pocket knife. Ellis' wife finally saw her husbands plight and by stabbing the animal again and again, the man was finally released. It was necessary for his leg to be amputated.

Atchison, Kansas. Angered because of the intrusion of a fire truck into his domain, a big rooster attacked the apparatus. The glass in a headlight was broken and the lamp standard bent. The cock lost a few feathers in the encounter, but strutted away unconquered.

Fort Smith, Ark. Mrs. Alice Mars and her husband separated just thirty years ago. She is now asking for alimony to support her four children. Mars has acquired property of much value since the separation.

Poplar Bluff, Mo. Mrs. J. C. Corrigan placed eleven eggs under a hen. When the fowl ceased setting, two unhatched eggs and twelve chicks were found.

SPORTS

Fort Worth, Texas. Charley Paddock, the "world's fastest human" will run here on March 13. The famous sprinter is to lecture at T. C. U., and will display his track ability on the cinders during his stay.

Austin, Texas. Adrian Paulen, famous middle-distance Holland runner and Charley Hoff of Norway, pole-vaulter, are considered certain entries for the Texas relays to be held here on March 26. Many noted track and field men from all over the United States have signed up for competition. Several colleges will send their entire teams.

STYLE NOTE

High heels are popular and they seem even so high as to be uncomfortable. Evening slippers are studded with rhinestones. Long tongues seem again to be in vogue.

THE MOVIES

The mother of Marie Provost, film star, was recently killed in an automobile accident. Al Christi, comedy producer and Vera Stedman, actress, were injured at the same time. Mr. Christi and Miss Stedman will recover.

It is understood that the next picture of Gloria Swanson will see Eugene O'Brien as her leading man.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON "BAD LUCK"

"The Brownes are the unluckiest people I ever saw, Aunty," remarked Emma, as she and Aunt Emmy walked by their house. "They were just getting on their feet after James lost so much money in stocks. Maud told me only last week that he was putting his savings in government bonds now. Yesterday his office was robbed and the bonds stolen out of his desk. Five $100 bonds gone. It's the only money they have been able to save since he lost his savings in that radio stock."

"That certainly is bad luck, if you call it bad luck," commented Aunt Emmy. "I call it stupidity, myself."

"Stupidity! why Aunt Emmy, how could James know that thieves would get in his office!" exclaimed Emma. "It doesn't seem stupid to me."

"I don't want to be too hard on James, my child, but if he had only used ordinary precautions, he need not have lost what was for him a large amount of money on that radio stock and he surely need not have had those bonds stolen."

"Why Aunty, James isn't a mind reader or a fortune teller."

"No, of course he isn't. But neither is every successful business man a seer. Luck is ninety per cent common sense. If James had gone to his banker and asked him to look up the radio company whose stock he was thinking of buying, the chances are that he never would have bought it after he got the bank's report. Banks can get the record of any company issuing stock and if the company is not well financed, if it has not been paying dividends, if the officers of the company are not men with clean, honest records, the bank can find that out. The radio company that James invested in made a disgraceful failure a month after he bought his stock. If he had taken the trouble to find out something about it first, doubtless he would have that money today."

"Well, Aunty, that may be true about the stock, but who in the world would anticipate thieves?"

"Anybody who reads the papers today knows that thieves are pretty active," said Aunt Emmy dryly. "Why ignore them? If James had kept his bonds in a safe place, at a bank, he would have had them yet. James has been careless, if not actually stupid. His bad luck is mostly James himself."—Anne B. Aymes.

BANKERS HELP

The Minnesota Bankers Association at its annual convention adopted the following resolution:

"We believe it to be the duty of every banker in the state of Minnesota to co-operate with our Agricultural Committee and to call the attention of its farmer patrons to the excellent work being done by our Agricultural College, and the means thereby available for the improvement of farming conditions and for the practical education of the boys and girls from our farms."

What is Safe Farming?

We would say that the surest method of safe farming would be:

Plant 50 per cent of cultivated land in the cash crop, leaving ample acreage for food and feed. In addition, keep a few purebred cows, hogs and chickens, and a home garden to supply the family needs.

We want to talk with our farm customers about safe farming. It may mean the difference between success and failure this year. And it will mean assured prosperity for the farmers of this state in 1926.

POLL TAX PAYMENTS FOR 1926 FALL SHORT OF PAYMENT FOR POLITICAL CAMPAIGN OF 1924

The drouth did not prevent Cameron from showing an increase in poll taxes over previous years, the total being 1403, as compared with 1221 for 1924 and 1394 for 1923. Rockdale's total is 610, Thorndale 535, Buckholts 467. The total for the county is 7,702. This does not include the overs and unders.

The following statement covering the poll tax payments for the past three years was furnished by Roy Law, Milam county's courteous and efficient tax oollector, who states that the 1925 figures are subject to review, but are substantially correct.

THE HIGH SALARIED EXECUTIVE OF TOMORROW

Every office is divided into two groups—those who direct the business, the sales and the accounting—and those who carry out the directions. Those who direct are the high salaried department heads and managers. Those who carry out the directions are secretaries, accountants, bookkeepers, confidential assistants. As changes take place, or as the business expands, these assistant eecutives inherit or grow into higher executive and administrative positions.

This is the history of every big organization. The executives of today were the assistant executives of yesterday—the stenographers, bookkeepers, etc., are executives of tomorrow. And the executives of today the owners of tomorrow.

How can you be an executive?

Every year thousands of young people—some high school graduates and some with only a grade school education—go to Tyler Commercial College to take the private secretarial, general business, general banking, general railroad, general western union, bookkeeping, shorthand (either Byrne Simplified or Gregg system), cotton classing, civil service, radio or penmanship. They start the course when they are wholly unfit for positions, yet they graduate a few months later with a greatly increased earning capacity. They are able to enter any line of business; they are placed in responsible positions by the school employment department.

What thousands of other young people have done—and are doing—you can do. You can prepare for a position as executive either in civil service or in business. You can create a big demand for your services. You have only to enter Tyler Commercial College for a business training and follow to success the path which thousands of young men and young women have taken. If you do not have all the money to pay for your tuition they will help you.

If you want to get a good position one with a good starting salary and offers excellent opportunities for advancement, send the coupon printed below for "Achieving Success in Business." The big helpful book will be sent to you free. Mail the coupon now.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Don't put the next jam or pickles you make on a top shelf. Store the jars on a lower shelf, as hot air rises and it is likely to cause fermentation.

If you find it difficult to get dust from carved furniture or bed springs, etc., try using an automobile pump, the air will do the work.

Fruit Loaf

Chop and mix a half cupful each of seeded raisins, pecan meats, candied cherries, sliced citron and stoned dates. Then add almost a cupful of uncooked fondant. If the mixture is too sticky, add powdered sugar. Make into narrow loaf and put on waxed paper. Coat with melted milk chocolate or bitter chocolate as preferred.

Bright Wings of Romance

By RALPH D. PAINE

(©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

TIME had been very cruel to Harriet Brent. To some women the years come like an Indian summer.

Harriet Brent lived alone in an old house, which also had come to have an aspect unlovely and forlorn. Foursquare to the road it stood, its fields bounded by stone walls heaped together by the tenacious toil of New England pioneers.

A house that still braved the weather staunchly, it had sheltered many children and known many joys and sorrows. This its broad roof conveyed to the passer-by. For one elderly woman to dwell alone in it was like sitting by the dead ashes of a hearthstone.

Harriet Brent was not unhappy. In her heart, which seemed untenanted by warm emotions, there lived unquenched one divine spark of the true romance. Her faded eyes could soften in wistful reverie.

The Harriet Brent of those many, many years gone by had been a sensitive, slender girl of a certain flower-like, fleeting beauty. Delicate, they had called her. A shy girl, moving in misty day-dreams which she had been reluctant to reveal.

Eighteen she was when the lad had come from a larger town for a brief visit with cousins on a nearby farm. So brief—only a week. He had made love to her, with an ardor boyish and turbulent. Unashamed, she had returned his kisses.

Careless, splendid, debonair, swearing he loved her forever and ever, he had passed on and forgotten her.

Harriet Brent did not forget him. Life is sometimes that way. The spirit of romance had once, only once, brushed her with its bright wings. Time healed the poignant sorrow. It came to be that she was glad to bear the scar. Even in these somber latter years she could sit and thank God that she had known love and kisses and aching rapture.

One day this harsh-featured, unsmiling spinster went out to feed the hens. She had clapped on a battered, haymaker's straw hat. A shawl was thrown over her faded shirt-waist. The old skirt had been chopped off to make it easier to do the chores. The rubber boots were handy because there was mud in the hen yard.

The empty pan in her hand, Harriet Brent stood staring at a very large and glittering automobile which had halted in front of the house. The chauffeur was studying a weather-beaten guide-board on a post. A handsome woman, ruddy, dignified, spoke to the gentleman beside her. He left the car and walked to the gate of Harriet Brent's dooryard. She came clumping from the barn path to meet him.

"Is this the road to Warechester, if you please?"

"Yes, take the first road to the right after you climb the hill beyond the watering-trough."

"Thank you, and may my man have a pail of water to fill his radiator? If you will be good enough to show him where the well is—"

"I'll fetch you a pail," grimly spoke Harriet Brent. She lingered a moment to survey this vigorous, genial stranger with the close-cropped, grizzled mustache, the keen eyes, the air of substantial importance. Time had not been cruel to him. Life had been gracious nor had it obliterated that dominating quality which had made him victorious in boyhood.

Yes, Harriet Brent knew him as soon as they stood face to face, but the expression of her worn features was unchanged. She went into the shed and returned with a pail. The man who had come out of the past seemed in no haste to rejoin his wife in the car nor did he hear her when she called to him. He was gazing at the shabby old house and at the apple orchard beyond. His demeanor was curiously abstracted. His eyes were grave but his smile had a boyish sweetness as he said:

"This fine old place has run down. Too bad. I remember it years ago. A family named Brent lived here then. Do you know what became of them?"

"Dead and gone," replied Harriet. "You can see the stones in the little burying ground at the edge of the orchard.

"Yes, it was a long time ago. There was a daughter, a very lovely girl. I met her one summer, when I was a boy. Married, I suppose, and a grandmother by now?"

"She has gone, too, so I've heard say," steadily answered Harriet in a low voice. Her hand pulled the edges of the shawl together and remained there to rest on her heart. "Yes, the girl you used to know has gone from here."

His wife spoke impatiently. He turned with a start. Presently the car rolled away from the house by the road. He glanced back, more than once. From behind the ancient lilac bush, Harriet Brent watched the car vanish. Then she clasped her hands and murmered, in prayer:

"Oh, thank God he didn't know me. But he remembered—and he loved to remember. He was loving the girl that has gone. I didn't expect anything could ever make me so happy."

She went into the house and kindled a blaze in the huge fireplace of the sitting-room. By its glow she sat with folded hands, while the red coals covered the dead ashes. Her face was no longer harsh and unlovely. The bright wings of romance had brushed it.

One Crop Farming-

is decidedly Unsafe Farming.

In planting every available acre to cotton, without the proper provision for food and feed for the family and live stock—staking all upon the chances of a big crop—is hazardous in the extreme, for no matter how big the crop, or whatever the price of cotton, the profits for the year must go for the food and feed that could have easily been provided for on the farm.

Safe farming demands a Diversification of crops. While there is yet time, Plant Wisely.
